Paul Heim Education Award

Funding: Variable, dependant on the cost of course

The Lincoln's Inn Education Award aims to encourage the study of European, international and human rights law by providing funding for at least one student per year to undertake a short course of study in one of these fields which will further their aim of practising in the relevant area of law. Students will need to secure their own place on their chosen course. Some examples of appropriate courses are the Academy of European Law Summer Schools in Human Rights and European Law, The Hague Academy of International Law, the EUIC Venice Summer School in Human Rights and the Institute for European Studies Summer School but the panel will consider applications from candidates wishing to undertake any other similar course of study.

Overseas Placement Fund

In addition to the five scholarships available, the Inn also has an Overseas Placement Fund to assist students and young barristers to undertake human rights law internships. These have included visits to Greece to work with Syrian Refugees, working on death row cases in America and placements with the Women's Legal Centre, Cape Town.

To apply for funding applicants are asked to submit an application form with a copy of the contract / letter of appointment to Emma Jeffery Emma.Jeffery@lincolnsinn.org.uk. The application form can be found on our website www.lincolnsinn.org.uk.

The Inn cannot fully fund the placements but can make a contribution.

Thoughts from Our Scholars

My time in Strasbourg was the opportunity of a lifetime. It was academically challenging but overwhelmingly rewarding. I was able to examine substantive applications and worked to positively assist real human rights cases, a feat unique to this opportunity. I learnt more about human rights law in 3 months than ever before, was able to see fantastic advocacy in Grand Chamber hearings and living in Strasbourg, engaging with the culture was brilliant. I loved it.

Katherine Gittins, ECtHR Strasbourg 2014.

My time at the Court was an experience like none other, I have had the opportunity to work in many institutions, but this was by far the most positive experience I have had the pleasure of having. Not only was I entrusted with vital research tasks that went to core issues in judges deliberations, everyone at the Court appreciated the work you produce and makes sure you are aware of that.

Rachelle Harrison, ICC The Hague 2016.

To name just a few personal highlights from my time at the court, I conducted legal research on a number of discrete points of law, produced a written opinion on a number of live cases and drafted a mock rapport préalable. The best part of the experience was undoubtedly, however, the chance to discuss my work with Judge Vajda and to debate my views on cases with him. This enabled me to develop my confidence in expressing and defending my legal opinions.

I had an interesting, varied and intellectually challenging two months at the Court of Justice and I now looking forward to applying all that I have learnt as I start my BPTC in September. Harriet Wakeman, CJEU Luxembourg 2016.

Thoughts from Our Scholars

Mental Disability Advocacy Centre, Budapest, Martin Ferguson

I am extremely grateful to the Inn for enabling me to contribute to the work described above. There is a tremendous amount of work to be done in Hungary before people with mental health issues enjoy basic rights and freedoms that should be the norm in any society. Without the dedicated work of MDAC and the determination of its advocates, there is a startlingly small amount being done to pressure governments across Europe and Africa into amending legislation and policy affecting people with mental health issues. The support I was able to provide was extremely gratefully received by MDAC and I do believe that even the few weeks I was able to spend supporting the team will have some impact on advancing the rights of people with mental health issues in Hungary.

I also gained a tremendous amount from the time spent working with lawyers and advocates from a range of backgrounds, and it was an insightful and humbling experience. Having just finished the BPTC the opportunity enabled me to utilise many of the skills I had developed during my studies, but it also reminded me of how crucial practical, varied and meaningful work is to advancing my ability as a barrister.
