Fragility and Hope

There is again this year both fragility and hope in Easter. In the midst of life, we are in death, as we see the devastation in Ukraine and remember those who have died in the pandemic. At the same time hope burgeons as life becomes more normal and we learn how to live with covid; and as we look forward to the major celebrations of the Queen's Platinum Jubilee.

Christianity is no stranger to facing these realities. On Good Friday Christians have over centuries, like the earliest friends and followers of Jesus, stood by the cross and faced Jesus death. On Easter Sunday, after hours of total devastation, the cries of 'Alleluia, Christ is Risen!' remind us of the light of Christ, offering new hope amidst our doubts and fears.

The traditional Easter candle, reflecting this light of Christ, bears the sorrows as it is marked with the sign of the cross and the marks of the nails; and the joy as it is inscribed with alpha and omega, X as the beginning and end, and the flame lit. It customarily remains in churches all year. In mediaeval times, this paschal candle could be very large – the one in Salisbury was said to be 36 foot high! In the Inn our candles are rather smaller as they are lit at christenings when someone starts their Christian journey: and at funerals as the earthly journey ends. The light is the guiding light to lead us on and the night light to reassure us when life seems dark and difficult.

It beckons us to hope and dream once more. If we find it hard, words attributed to Francis Drake beckon us on:

Disturb us, Lord, to dare more boldly,
To venture on wider seas; Where storms will show your mastery;
Where losing sight of land,
We shall find the stars.
We ask You to push back;
the horizons of our hopes;
And to push into
the future;
In strength, courage, hope, and love.

For Easter encourage us to hope and dream – to enjoy the gift of life. Do join in our celebrations and look out for the special events in Chapel for the Queen's Jubilee; for Family Day; and for the Warburton Lecture on F D Maurice.
